Biofuel Survey

Dear Sir/Madam,

Have you been looking for information on biofuels for transport? Are you currently active in this field? Does your organisation have plans to start a biofuels project and are you looking for project partners or to gain experiences in similar projects? If the answer is yes to any of these then the Biofuel Cities project will be of interest to you.

The European Commission funded project, Biofuel Cities, aims to produce an online platform / resource centre to provide information on biofuels and to develop tools to assist organisations in the implementation of biofuels initiatives. The project has begun and we invite you to help shape it to meet your needs.

We have prepared a survey to evaluate the needs and expectations of possible users of this Biofuels information platform. We kindly ask you to complete this survey on-line at www.biofuel-cities.eu/survey. A copy of the survey is attached to this e-mail. If you are not the appropriate person to complete the survey we would be grateful if you could forward it to the appropriate person within your organisation.

The Biofuel Cities European Partnership aims to:

- gather and disseminate information on biofuels including scientific, policy, and practical developments;
- encourage networking possibilities to maximise synergies with existing initiatives and to improve co-operation among local, national and international organisations;
- provide mechanisms to facilitate the establishment of partnerships between different organisations; and
- provide other useful tools and information, such as publications, details of events and training and more to support work on biofuels.
